

FUN FEBRUARY CLASSES! AT CLAVIER-WERKE SCHOOL OF MUSIC IN WESTLAKE HILLS

With Instructor Jane Gillman

Originally a Marylander, Jane grew up listening to Appalachian music in one ear and rock n roll in the other. She first braved the stage at age 11, performing Bob Dylan's "Blowin' in the Wind" on the ukulele. The University of Texas brought her to Austin, where, after getting a degree in Anthropology and Folklore, she spent the next 20 years playing in bands. She has released 9 albums (Rounder Records; Compass/Green Linnet) and has toured throughout North America and Europe as a singer/songwriter, band member, musical theatre multi-instrumentalist, and Musical Director. Jane's musical philosophy can be summed up in three words: create, collaborate, celebrate! She has been leading band classes and teaching guitar, harmonica, mandolin, dulcimer, ukulele and songwriting for 25 years to folks of all ages.

HARMONICA!

The harmonica is one of the smallest and most versatile of instruments. From Cajun to Classical, Blues to Ballads, Country to Rock – there's room in every genre for the sound of the harmonica. Come try it out for yourself in this beginner level class, where we'll explore harmonica techniques and try them out on familiar songs. Copies of songs will be provided but playing by ear is encouraged. Please bring a harmonica with you in the key of D.
